Attorney General's Office to Host Information Table at Flagstaff Library

(Phoenix, Ariz. – August 19, 2005) Come meet the new kid in town! Jessica Case, a representative from the Attorney General's Community Services Program, will be on hand at the Flagstaff Public Library to provide information about the new Flagstaff Satellite Office and the services the office can provide to area residents. Case will be at the library Saturday, August 20 beginning 10 a.m.

The Attorney General's Community Services Program includes a number of satellite offices throughout Arizona. These offices provide community-based venues that make it easier for residents to access information on consumer fraud, civil and victims' rights and other topics affecting the most vulnerable members of the community and the general population. A corps of volunteers generously donates their time to staff the satellite offices.
